. . . or as a team, . . .

. . . pupils played a part in the 1965 "WEST SIDE STORY."

In school or at play, Ben Davis Giants brought honor and fame to the school and community in many ways this year.

The Mighty Marching Giants captured the state band title at the State Fair Band Contest. Pupils returned to school in September and settled down to classwork.

Finishing the best season in years, the football team played tough opponents and showed their skill. Hard work and training proved itself as the wrestlers took a sectional title.

The turnout was outstanding at basketball games as the Giants' team took on and defeated Washington and Lebanon, both ranked number two in the state at the time. The team then went on to cop the County Tourney title. The crowning touch to the successful season was winning the Indianapolis Sectional, the first time in 30 years.

It was a great year for the west side of Indianapolis. The three west-side schools—Ben Davis, Speedway, and Washington—took top titles in the Indianapolis, Zionsville, and Southport Sectionals, respectively.

It is with great pride that the 1965 Keyhole staff presents the Ben Davis "WEST SIDE STORY."

Office girls and Mr. Girton hand out schedules to pupils.

Classwork, activities, and sports filled the lives of Ben Davis pupils. From the beginning of the school year to the last day before summer vacation, the Giants spent an eventful year.

Sock hops, games, class and organization dances, plays, musicals, prom, picnics, and graduation activities added variety to the scene.

As the year drew to a close, pupils looked back at the many activities they had taken part in and recognized them as a part of the "WEST SIDE STORY."

Giants spend last year on campus

Serving the needs of more than 2200 pupils, faculty members, and administrators are the four buildings of Ben Davis High School.

The oldest building, the Annex, was built in 1924. In 1946, an addition was added, and the Annex was used as a grade school until 1959, when it became part of the high school. It houses the English, math, and social studies classes.

The Senior Gym, commercial, home economics, and academic classes make up the Senior Building, which was built in 1936.

Built as a grade school annex in 1951, science classes and administrative offices are housed in the Wayne Central Building.

The Samuel T. Lang Building, better known as the Industrial Arts Building, contains the shop classes and the cafeteria.

Altogether, the campus buildings make up the setting for the Giants' "WEST SIDE STORY."

When the lunch bell rings, hungry pupils converge on the cafeteria.

The windows of biology classes open as the smell of formaldehyde becomes overpowering.

At the end of the school day, the Annex stands empty until pupils and faculty return.

Work continued on the new high school building, to have it ready for students to move into in the fall.

ACADEMICS

Academics at Ben Davis are designed to serve the needs of the individual pupil. Whether he is taking a college preparatory course, industrial arts, commerce, or home economics course, he can graduate well-prepared for his future plans.

Academics also play one of the most important parts in the pupils' life.

Almost half of a teenager's waking hours are spent at school or going to or from school. These hours provided the script for the "WEST SIDE STORY."

English courses offer wide choice

Mr. Schwegmon helps one of his English III students choose the correct word for o theme.

During the 20th century, English has become one of the most important studies in high school. Without the ability to write and speak the English language, our education would undoubtedly come to a standstill.

Ben Davis pupils are made aware of this importance in English classes. A Staff of 16 teachers, led by Miss Jean Pritchard, department head, instructs the pupils in the ability to read and understand acceptable English in speaking and writing.

Developmental Reading is for pupils who wish to increase their reading speed. In order to work on one of the publications staffs, a course in Journalism is required. Other selective courses are Bible Literature, and, for college-bound seniors, literature and college composition.

English is perhaps the most difficult language to learn, but the most rewarding.

Mr. Reitzel's college composition class listens intently as he explains sentence structure.

Because it is becoming increasingly important that people know about the world around them, and about human behavior, social studies courses at Ben Davis emphasize the influence that cultures play on everyone's lives.

Miss Olive Carruthers, department chairman, and the nine teachers on the social studies staff strive to implant an interest for the social sciences among BDHS students. Rather than learning dry facts by rote, pupils find that courses are enlivened by such projects as "investing" $5000 for economics, presenting various discussions in U.S. history, and studying environment as a cause for behavior in psychology.

A minor in social studies—composed of two semesters of U.S. history, one course in government, and one elective—is required for graduation.

Although many pupils may not realize it until later in life, a better knowledge of the social sciences, is a valuable asset in today's world.

Miss Sandra Brown, U. S. History teacher, seems puzzled over a question brought up by a student in her advanced class.

Mr. John Shaw, Economics teacher, glances over his notes before class begins.

Mr. William Price, teacher of government, asks a question and waits for an answer.

Mr. James Garcia explains a Spanish translatian ta his class.

With the world shrinking more and more, foreign languages are becoming of greater importance. Learning to speak, write, and understand a foreign language requires long hours of repititious practice and a great deal of effort on the part of the pupils. A strong sense of accomplishment is the reward for the time spent learning to pronounce difficult words.

Languages are of great importance, not only for personal knowledge, but also for communication with different countries and an understanding of international affairs.

Ben Davis' foreign language department includes Latin, Spanish, and French. Tape recordings are used to learn pronounciation, verb conjugations, noun forms, and sentence structures, by French and Spanish pupils. The writings of Caesar and Virgil are studied by second- and third-year Latin pupils.

Now, a fourth year in French and a third year in Spanish is offered to make it possible to earn a major in these languages.

Ben Davis's Mathematics Department helps pupils develop their powers of thought. Although only two credits in math are required to graduate, many students are now taking minors or majors in this field. In all, eight separate math courses, for a total of twelve credits, are offered.

A variety of skills is taught in the Math Department. Mechanics of arithmetic are taught in general math, while first year algebra teaches pupils to represent unknowns in terms of known values. In plane geometry, students must apply the general facts of Euclidian theorems to a situation. Three more semesters of algebra and one of solid geometry are offered, which deal with advanced topics on these subjects. Trigonometry and analytic geometry are useful to college-bound students.

Miss Nina Martin has been head of the Mathematics Department for the past 21 years. The BDHS math department helps pupils keep pace with today's mechanized world.

to analytical futures for pupils

Under the directorship of Mr. Daryl Miller, changes in the Science Department have adjusted the curriculum to meet new demands.

This year, third and fourth semesters of biology were made available. Prerequisite to these is the first-year biology course. Both semesters can be taken independent of each other.

Biology III replaced botany which was formerly offered. In Biology IV, students learn additional information about the higher animals.

A wide variety of topics is offered in the non-biological sciences. Physical science pupils study the basic rules of gravity, astronomy, and electricity. Two complete years of chemistry are avaiable to all students. First-year chemistry pupils learn theorems of organic, inorganic, and nuclear reactions. The second year, designed for college-bound pupils, is also taught on an individual semester basis. Using actual college texts, students study qualitative and quantitative analyses. Physics pupils learn to deal with friction, vector forces, and applied mathematical sciences.

In general, the BDHS Science Department provides a better understanding of the world.

Courses prepare pupils for Each new school year means a wider selection of commerce courses, and more students to enroll in these classes. This year two new courses were added to the curriculum, bringing the total number available to sixteen. At the beginning of the first semester, there were approximately 1977 pupils enrolled in some type of commerce course.

Another expanding vocation field is home economics. There are several courses offered in this area of study, with approximately 388 pupils enrolled in them.

These two areas combine to make up a very large and important part of the curriculum. A person entering high school may choose to make a career of either field, or to take these courses as preparation for college or business school. Also, he may choose to combine the two fields for useful training.

Industrial Arts

Industrial Arts at Ben Davis has grown beyond mere training in the manual skills.

Pupils who are planning to attend college and to major in engineering or physics find that it is an advantage to take one of the several courses in technical drafting or a class in electronics. Pupils who are entering industry after graduation learn to use lathes, to weld, and to repair household appliances.

Under the supervision of Mr. Jim Taylor, the industrial arts department has increased the number of shop courses. In addition to classes in mechanical drawing, machine shop, basic wood, and basic metal, a two-year course in graphic arts, a class in automobile repair, and a course in radio repair are also available. The second-year print shop was added this year.

Because more emphasis is being placed on specialization in industry, the teachers of the manual arts courses give pupils a wide background of many industrial processes.

Learning to weld, as this industrial arts pupil is doing, is one of the basic skills that all metal shop students master.

Phy. Ed. departments aid Giants

The physical education and guidance departments of BDHS provide today's teenagers with many benefits. Although these two programs do not work in the same type of training, both contribute to the complete education of the high school pupil.

The physical education department also offers health and safety. Physical education provides the student with a certain amount of vigorous activity each day. Activities include a daily program of calisthenics and participation in seasonal sports. Health and safety is designed to provide a pupil with a general knowledge of first aid and personal health rules. Both of these courses are required by state law and must be completed for graduation.

The BDHS guidance department consists of specially-trained personnel. The guidance counselors help a pupil in choosing courses for his academic career in high school. This program helps a student to plan his curriculum according to his potential and his interest for the future.

classes add variety to academics

The art and music departments of Ben Davis High School provide many opportunities for pupils to increase their abilities.

A paint brush, canvas, colorful ideas, and pastels assist Mrs. Elva Strouse to teach her pupils appreciation of art. Every expression and phrase are combined in this desire to create.

Pupils are taught not only the art of drawing, but also sculpting and sketching.

A willingness to work, ambition, and musical ability make up the qualities of a good music department.

The music department, staffed by Mrs. Geraldine Miller, choir director; and Mr. Hal Meuer, Mr. Ray Horton, and Mr. Ronald Doak, band directors, give students a chance to develop skills.

A variety of vocal and instrumental classes are offered to those interested in music for fun and learning.

These courses each provide a more well-rounded curriculum for the high school academic field.

ACTIVITIES

Sock hops, club meetings, initiations, dances, Proms, picnics, and plays kept Ben Davis pupils busy during the year.

There was a club or organization for every interest or talent. Those interested in scholastic fields took membership in academic clubs. For the sportsminded, there were active clubs. Performing groups and cheerleaders attracted those with special talents. Rounding out the list were honoraries whose membership is awarded to pupils who have achieved in a special field.

These clubs and organizations fill an important part in the pupils' lives and in the "WEST SIDE STORY."

Serving as a medium of exchange between the student body and the administration is the Student Council. As the chosen representatives of the pupils, members vote on important issues, such as honor roll and elections, and present ideas and plans to the administration.

In the spring, council representatives and officers for the coming year are elected by the student body. Besides the elected members, class presidents and club presidents are ex-officio members of the council. Home representatives have separate meetings and present ideas or problems reported by the people in their home rooms.

Projects by the Student Council include the Homecoming festivities, various convocations and election rallies, elections, foreign exchange program, and annual-school dance, the "Bunny Hop." Mr. John Shaw and Miss Carolyn Lincks are sponsors. Mr. Howard Williams, and Mr. David Adams work closely with the council.

stand as goals for student body

Leadership, service, character, and scholarship are the traits considered for membership in the National Honor Society.

In the spring, pupils who are in the top 15% of their class, and are nominated by four teachers, are formally invited to become members.

At the initiation, new members are given their pins. They are honored at a banquet in the cafeteria. The year's activities are climaxed by a picnic. The Honor Society also sponsored an Honor Hop for pupils on the semester honor rolls.

Membership in NHS is extended to only 10% of the senior class and 5% of the junior class.

Sponsors Miss Olive Carruthers, Mr. Robert Seeman, and Mrs. Helen Poince offer advice and guidance to members of the NHS, and help the club set up goals for pupils. Members of the organization also financed a scholarship fund by sponsoring sock hops and helping at dinners for the Lions Club.

Increasing interest in science as a career and leading students to new areas which are not usually studied in class, are two of the goals of Phi Chi Sigma, science club.

Under the guidance of Mr. Daryl Miller and Mr. Jack Jester, chemistry, physics, and advanced biology pupils present programs in the various scientific fields that interest them. One of the highlights of the year was the visit of "Grover Cringe," a five-foot boa constrictor.

Membership in the club is open to those enrolled in chemistry, physics, and advanced biology.

In addition to presenting programs, the members annually build a float for the Homecoming parade. Members also participate in science fairs and seminars.

One of the most popular clubs at Ben Davis, Phi Chi Sigma is also one of the largest academic clubs.

History Club officers were: Chris Macey, president; Cathy Sheets, secretary; Rodger Carnes, vice-president; and Tim Laughter, treasurer.

Trips to Vincennes and the State House highlighted the activities of the History Club. On the field trip to the State House, members viewed the Senate and house in action and watched a bill being passed. In Vincennes, they went to the George Rogers Clark Memorial, the William Henry Harrison home, the first territorial capital, and the first print shop in Indiana. Before the Vincennes trip, club members presented reports on things to be seen.

A Speaker from the League of Women Voters spoke to club members. She demonstrated voting procedures and talked on the rights of voting. Later, the History Club sponsored a registration drive sending out reminders to voters to register in the national election.

Before the general elections in November, a mock election was staged, with pupils voting for the candidate of their choice.

Sponsored by Mr. Leonard Lowe, the History Club worked to give pupils a better understanding of history and governmental functions.

Art Club sponsors eventful year;

Working hard for long hours during and after school paid off as the Art Club received first place for their Homecoming float. The highlight of the float was a huge papier maché Giant.

Mrs. Elva Strouse, sponsor, assists Art Club members with any projects they may undertake. The aim of the club is to learn more about great works of art and to promote art appreciation.

Art Club members draw posters, paint pictures, and work in other art fields and enter their work in contests. In its first year at Ben Davis, the Art Club has proved to be a popular club. To become a member, a student must have had an art course or be currently enrolled in a course.

Highlights of the year include talks by professional artists about their various fields and a field trip to John Herron Art Museum. There they viewed an exhibition of paintings from the "Romantic Era."

Trialge officers: Dan Parratt, Betty Frizzell, Henry Cummins, and Glenna Gaddard plan activities far the club.

Proving that the study of mathematics can be fun, is the main purpose of Trialge. The club, spcnsored by Miss Nina Martin, annually decorates a Christmas tree for the cafeteria. In addition to presenting programs on new concepts in mathematics and other math-oriented subjects, the club presented certificates of merit to students earning straight "A's" in math at a pitch-in dinner in the spring.

"Trialge" is formed from the first syllables of three courses, trigonometry, algebra, and geometry. Any student enrolled in one of these courses and interested in learning more than can be taught in the class may belong to the club.

Members of Trialge represented Ben Davis at a mathematics contest at DePauw. Because Trialge and Mu Alpha Theta are both math clubs, members of Trialge look forward to gaining admission to the honorary.

with customs of foreign countries

Anyone stumbling onto a meeting of one of the language clubs might see a slave sale, a pass-word game being played in French, or a Mexican fiesta.

Latin Club members stage an annual slave sale, with a strong, healthly, slave who can drape a toga, going for as much as one hundred sesterces. Club members buy these slaves to wait on them at the Roman Banquet, and the money goes into the club fund. The club sends a delegation to the national convention and state convention of the Junior Classical League each year, where they take part in the program. The sponsor of the Senatus Populus Que Romanus is Mrs. Helen McNabb.

Having dessert at Rene's Restaurant was an adventure for French Club members, who had to order in French. Games, such as password and charades are played in French at the monthly club meetings. Members also present skits. Mrs. Ina Hyde and Mrs. Judith Atz sponsor the club.

A Mexican fiesta, complete with a pinata, songs, and games was staged by the Spanish Club. The sponsor is Mr. James Garcia.

Mrs. Helen MacNabb and Rager Gunkel, SPQR president, call the slaves to serve the members at the Raman Banquet.

Quill and Scroll, a national honorary organization for journalism students, gives recognition to high school pupils who have contributed to journalism. Membership is an award for achievement while working on the newspaper, yearbook, or news bureau. These students must have shown superior work and have a recommendation from the school publications advisors.

Quill and scroll sponsored the "November Nocturne" in the fall. A publications dinner is given in the spring to announce the newspaper, yearbook, and newsbureau staffs for the following year and to give recognition for outstanding effort on publications during the year.

Mu Alpha Theta is an honorary society for the advancement of mathematics.

Pupils who have an above average scholastic standing in math and no grade lower than C, are eligible for membership. At their monthly meettings Mu Alpha Theta features various speakers from IBM and insurance companies to explain the foundations and uses of advanced mathematics in business.

SSS serves local community

Helping others less fortunate than themselves is the purpose of the Sunshine Society. These girls serve the community by giving Thanksgiving baskets to needy families, singing carols at nursing homes, and contributing annually to Riley Hospital.

In addition to their charitable activities, Sunshine members sponsored a spring semiformal dance in the cafeteria. Members with perfect attendance at meetings were voted on for queen. A chili supper and a fashion tea for mothers was sponsored by the girls. The Sunshine Society annually awards a nursing scholarship to a senior. Miss Jane Isley, Mrs. Speicher, and Mrs. Judith Atz are sponsors.

Letterman's Club members serve Ben Davis by promoting good sportsmanship and team support, and by providing programs at football and basketball games.

To be eligible for membership, a boy must receive a letter by participating in at least one varsity sport or by serving as a manager or trainer.

Sponsors Mr. Marion Fine and Mr. Joe Dunbar guide the boys to be examples of good athletes and to serve the school.

Sunshine Society officers ond sponsars: Beverly Smith, Glenno Goddord, Betty Frizzell, Mrs. Judith Atz, Mrs. Sandro Speicher, Miss Jone Isely, Cindy Walton, Anita Forey, Janis Horrell.

Booster Club Officers: Duffy Toylor, Georgionno Sporks, Vicki Lottimer, Cothy Sheets, Corolyn Heoth.

Cheering their team on to victory is the duty of Booster Club & Sideliners members. These pupils play an important part in setting a good example for the student body as they demonstrate school spirit and sportsmanship.

Booster Club girls dress in white blouses and purple satin capes and sit together at basketball games. They perform hand motions to songs played by the Pep Band and yell with the cheerleaders. At meetings, they practice their hand motions and cheer until they have them all learned. The club works closely with Mrs. Marilyn Knox, sponsor.

Sideliners, the boys' booster squad, yells at games and also promotes spirit and sportsmanship. Mr. Dunbar and Mr. McClain, sponsors, work with the boys and help them on projects they undertake during the year. Sideliners Club presents two boys with scholarships at the end of each year.

No game at Ben Davis could be complete without the members of the Booster Club or Sideliners.

exercise, good sportsmanship

Bowling Club and Girls' Athletic Association are two very active clubs at Ben Davis which promote good sportsmanship.

With Mr. Charles Carpenter as sponsor, the members of the Bowling Club gather each Tuesday and Wednesday at the Lynhurst Bowl. After the teams are organized, during the beginning of the school year, some 200 students try to improve their bowling averages each week.

As the season ends, the top individuals, high-scoring teams, and bowlers of the Christmas tournament are honored at a banquet.

After being initiated into the GAA, the girls participate in such varied activities as basketball, volleyball, track, swimming, and tumbling. Miss Martha Fulford is sponsor.

Some money-making projects of this extra curricular club were the annual Pizza Twist, GAA-Faculty Basketball game, slumber party, and serving the Lions Club.

These athletic girls earn points for their participation in sports and social activities. If a member receives 100 points, she is presented with a pin, and she is given a letter for earning 150 points.

Panel discussions, a talk by Ogz Guney, a trip to the ISTA center for a career tea, and trips to area and state meetings were highlights of the year for members of the Future Teachers of America.

Membership in FTA is open to pupils interested in becoming teachers. Mr. David Adams and sponsors, Mrs. Rosalie Harcourt and Mr. Marvin Dierstock, urge the members to aspire to high goals in teachings and also acquaint them with not only the hard work, but also the fun and fulfillment in business careers.

High goals and ideals, a desire to learn, and interest in business careers prompted the formation of the Future Business Leaders of America this year.

Representatives from different business fields presented career talks to members. Mrs. Jessie Kirk and Mrs. Tylamay Hash are sponsors.

Red Cross benefits the community by distributing food baskets to needy families. The club sends representatives to Indianapolis Chapter meetings and banquets. Mrs. Martha Welch and Miss Kay Collins are sponsors.

The Ben Davis High School Vegetable-Judging team traveled to the National Contest for the second year in a row. This year they spent five days during the month of December in New Orleans, La.

The Open Competition team, made up of those who had judged in a National Contest before, placed first at the Indiana State Fair to win their trip to New Orleans. The 4-H team also placed first in their competition. Mamie Arnold was the highest individual scorer at the State Fair.

At the National Contest, the 4-H team consisting of Theresa Day, Wilma Gilley, Linda Haskell, and Marjorie Gerth, placed first in team competition for teams judging at the National Contest for the first time.

The Youth for Christ Club, sponsored by Mr. Charles Carpenter, has many varied activities in their meetings. These include lectures, skits, films, songs, and rallies.

YFC serves an important purpose in the daily life of Ben Davis, by giving pupils a greater understanding of the religious aspects of life.

Office girls, clinic and cafeteria workers, student librarians, projectionists, and janitors all provide valuable services to the school.

Band captures state championship

"Third place—Lincoln Vincennes!" One more band had been eliminated, and Ben Davis and the defending champions, Madison Heights of Anderson were still in the running.

"Second place—Madison . . ."—the rest was drowned out in a burst of cheering as Ben Davis fans learned that the Mighty Marching Giants had edged out Madison Heights, to capture the state title for the third time.

Jubilant band members returned to the busses, which they decorated with victory signs. Returning to the school, they and the six-foot trophy were met by a welcoming party of parents, friends, and faculty members.

Later in the evening, the band members rode on fire trucks in a victory parade around the township and ended the day with a sock-hop on the parking lot.

For the Mighty Marching Giants, this was a well-deserved reward for the weeks of hard work during the summer.

Band groups add sparkle, variety

No basketball game or pep rally would be complete without the rousing songs played by the pep band. Composed of brass instruments, the Pep Band worked with Booster Club members, and the Boosters learned band motions to go with pep songs.

The Stage Band plays at dances and other affairs. Money the Stage Band receives for playing at activities outside Ben Davis is used to defray band expenses.

Mr. Ray Horton directs both bands and selects the arrangements played by them.

The auxiliary corps of the band, the Majorettes, lead the band in all marching performances and parades. Using batons and flags, the girls demonstrate their precision marching ability. At football games, the Majorettes perform intricate drills at halftime, along with the band.

Mr. Ronald Doak works with the girls to improve their marching style. In the spring, interested girls try out for next year's majorettes.

Mrs. Geraldine Miller, director, works out a song with the choir.

Performing for the school at convos, or for an outside organization, such as a church or lodge, the Ben Davis choirs demonstrate their talent and hard work.

Dressed in the traditional purple robes and white stoles, the Purple-Aires concert choir performs the most frequently. Auditions are held in the spring. Members receive points to be present at performances and enter contests. When a pupil gets 800 points, he receives a letter. Stars and Chevrons are given to show the number of points a person has and how long he has been in choir.

Deep Purples, the swing choir, also perform at activities and sing songs of a more popular nature.

A new group this year, Choral Belles, has performed frequently. Other choir groups are: Madrigals, Highlights, Boys Ensemble, Starlights, Girls Ensemble, Girls' Chorus, and Cadet Choir.

All groups enter contests and this year were very successful, taking several ensemble and solo awards.

Varsity Cheerleaders: Pam Masan, Mary Bastin, Julia Jacksan, Debbie Wagner, Peggy Hacker, and Sheila Hamiltam.

Debbie Wagner, Mary Bastin, Sheila Hamiltan, and Peggy Hacker whaap it up as the "Jally Purple Giants" edge the Washingtan Cantinentals.

Next to the team, the most essential people at a basketball or football game are the cheerleaders. The girls lead the spectators in organized yells and cheer the teams on.

Practicing for long hours, the girls perfect their routines and learn new yells. Each summer, the girls attend cheerleading camps, and this year the school hosted a cheerleader clinic.

Although their main job is leading yells at games, the cheerleaders were kept busy with the many pep rallies held this year. Along with faculty members, team players, and pupils, they produced skits at the rallies, including a wedding between Miss County Tourney and the Ben Davis Giant, and a look at pep rallies in the far future, called "All for Ben Davis, stand up and beep!"

Reserve cheerleaders lead yells at all home and away reserve basketball games. Frosh cheerleaders concentrated their efforts on the frosh team. Both reserves and frosh squads assist the varsity squad at pep rallies. Mrs. Marilyn Knox is the cheerleader sponsor.

Cheerleaders help to make a victory

Reserve cheerleaders: Marlys Cappleman, Kathy Andrews, Judy Vincent, Cathy Anderson, Patty Ralph.

Freshmen cheerleaders: Georjean Carrico, Vetra Genero, Linda Thompson, Linda Stout, and Debbie Losh.

Mask and Gavel officers: Dave Farlaw, Chris Macy, Davetta Reynalds, David Gearge, Tim Laughter.

On the stage or behind a lectern, Mask and Gavel, National Forensic League members and Thespians showed dramatic and speech abilities.

At auditions held at the beginning of the year, hopeful pupils demonstrated their acting skills before Mask and Gavel members. The club votes on these performances and the ones voted in, become members. Members presented a fall play, "You Can't Take it with you"; a winter play, "Cinderella" for the grade schools in Wayne Township plus a spring musical, "The Sound of Music."

Thespian Society is a national honorary for high school pupils. To be eligible for membership a pupil must have earned ten points by acting in a play, doing stage work, serving at dinners, and in other ways.

National Forensic League, another national speech honorary, may be joined by earning 25 points. Prospective members earn these points by entering different contests or debates. Points are awarded on the basis of how the pupil places. Degrees, or awards are given at 25 and 75 points, a Forensics letter at 150 points.

Mr. Bob Hughes and Dr. Donald Hansell sponsor the clubs and direct speed events and plays.

spring musical, "Sound of Music"

"The hills are alive with the sound of music . . ." Standing on a simulated mountain, Maria, played by Becky Norris, started the spring musical, "The Sound of Music."

Presented by the speech and music departments, the actors and actresses worked hard on lines, props, scenery, and costumes to make the musical one of the best ever presented at Ben Davis.

"The Sound of Music" is the story of Maria, who leaves her convent to be the governess to the six children of Baron Von Trapp, David Farlow. Later in the play, she marries him, and she and her new family escape across the mountains into Switzerland to elude the Nazis.

Songs, comedy, adventure, and romance abounded as members of the cast moved from one situation to another.

From the first song to the last "Climb Ev'ry Mountain," "The Sound of Music" rewarded cast members for their hard work.

The nuns stop during the day to perform their religious duties and sing "Alleluia."

The Von Trapp children join their father and Maria in singing "Edelweiss."

Staff members started planning the book in July. Editor Jayne McDonald, Business Manager Mamie Arnold, and Photography Editor Bob Hawkins attended Indiana University Journalism Institute, where they learned correct yearbook techniques.

Marion County Press Day was attended by staff members. Later in the spring, they attended Eastern Indiana Press Day at Ball State University and Wabash Valley Press Convention at Indiana State University, where the yearbook won two awards.

Members worked sixth period every day and occasionally after school, on Saturdays, and during vacations to make deadlines. The duties of the "Keyhole Kids" included writing copy, taking and cropping pictures, and drawing layouts. They were assisted by Mr. Robert Houston, advisor.

This year, the Spotlight gained an All-American rating from the National Scholastic Association. This is the highest rating a high school newspaper can receive.

News Bureau girls serve as correspondents to the Times, Star, News, Westside Messenger, and Northwest Press. They report news about dances, elections, convos, classes, and student personalities at Ben Davis.

In addition to their regular duties, staff members travel to journalism conferences around the state. This year they attended the Wabash Valley Press Conference at Indiana State and a press conference at Ball State.

Tim and Leslie Oliver, Oguz's American "brather" and "sister" help him with his English.

From Turkey, across the ocean to Indianapolis was an exciting trip for Oguz Guney, Istanbul, Turkey, Ben Davis's first American Field Service exchange student.

The Student Council sponsored the sale of AFS shares to raise the $700 needed to pay the school's part of the program. Response to the sale was great.

Attending classes at a large public high school was different for Oguz, who attended Ismir Maaf Koleji, a private boys' school with an enrollment of 350.

During his year at BDHS, Oguz lived with the family of Tim Oliver. Since he lives at a boarding school in Turkey, Oguz learned new customs from his American "family." Other new experiences for Oguz were attending football and basketball games, celebrating Christmas and Easter, and attending many school activities.

Oguz took part in many activities, being on the wrestling team, singing with the Purpleaires, and serving as a member of the Prom Court.

After sponsoring a foreign exchange student for one year, Ben Davis is now eligible to send an American student to another country.

"In a Spanish Garden" theme

The Crownbearers ond the King ond Queen start off the court donce.

Soft lights and the music of Rick Southerland and his orchestra greeted Ben Davis prom-goers at the Indiana Ballroom.

Hours of sitting under hair dryers, polishing fingernails, and straightening cummerbunds and ties were spent in preparation for the 1965 Ben Davis Prom, entitled "In a Spanish Garden."

Starting the evening with pre-prom parties, pupils then entered the Roof and danced until ten o'clock. At ten, the coronation began, led by Crownbearers. Prom court members filled the dance floor; Barbara Metal and Tim Mains, Mistress and Master of Ceremonies then announced the names of the Prince and Princess, John Weaver and Pam Mason.

Then, Jim Waites was crowned Prom King. Silence reigned as everyone waited for the announcement of the Prom Queen.

"The Prom Queen is . . . . . Peggy Hocker!" As everyone applauded, Peggy was crowned and reigned over the court.

Again led by the Crownbearers, the court dance began, with everyone joining in. At twelve o'clock, the magic night was ended, and tired but happy prom goers moved on to the post-prom dinners and parties. The next morning, they went to prom breakfasts and picnics.

While prom-goers woit expently for the coronotion, the two Crownbeorers head the procession.

Sports, clubs crown royalty

Royalty abounded as Ben Davis clubs and sports crowned their kings and queens.

At the November Nocturne, annual fall dance sponsored by Quill & Scroll, Janis Roush and Jerry Wallace were crowned Queen and King. Candidates collected pennies from friends and classmates as votes.

A Sportsmanship King and Queen were chosen by student vote and crowned at the Basketball Homecoming. At half-time, Mr. Adams announced Vicki Lattimer and Jerry Chitwood as winners.

Joyce Nickell reigned at the annual Sunshine Society Dance this year. Sunshine members voted on the queen.

At the track meet with Southport, Peggy Hocker was crowned Track Queen. She and her attendants were chosen by members of the track team.

spirit + work = fun

From the parade of floats till the last moments of the dance, the 1964 Homecoming proved to be one of the most exciting events of the year.

The parade, complete with floats, fire engines, queen and attendant nominees, wound around the football field.

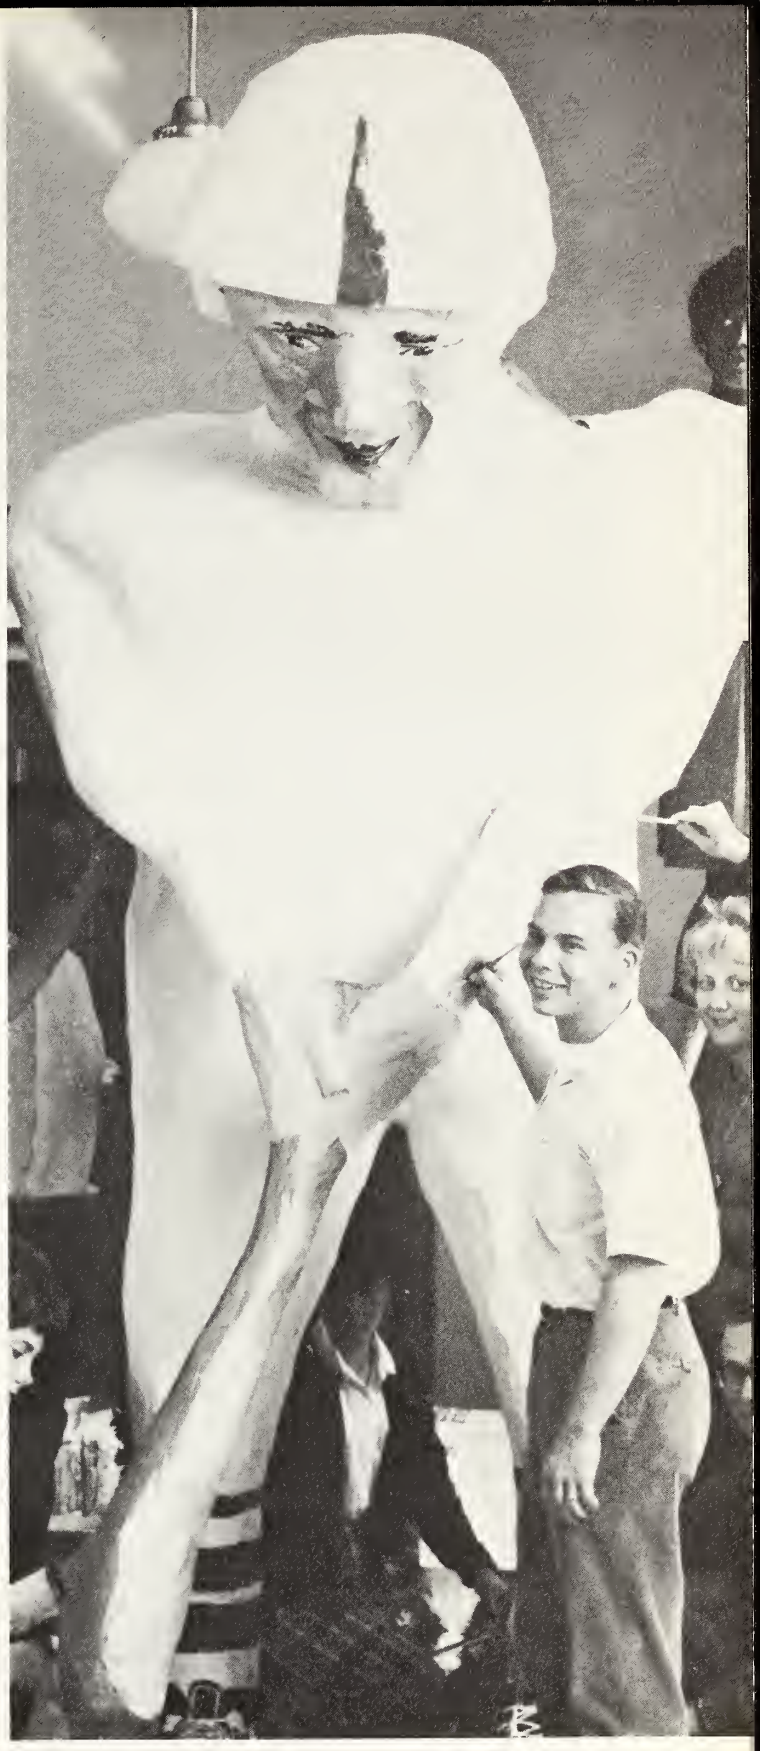
Peggy Hocker was crowned Queen, and her attendants were: Cathy Hopper, senior; Pam Mason, junior; Kathy Andrews, sophomore; and Linda Stout, freshman.

At eight o'clock, the game started. The Giants proved to be too powerful for the Brebeuf Warriors, ending the half with a score of 42-0.

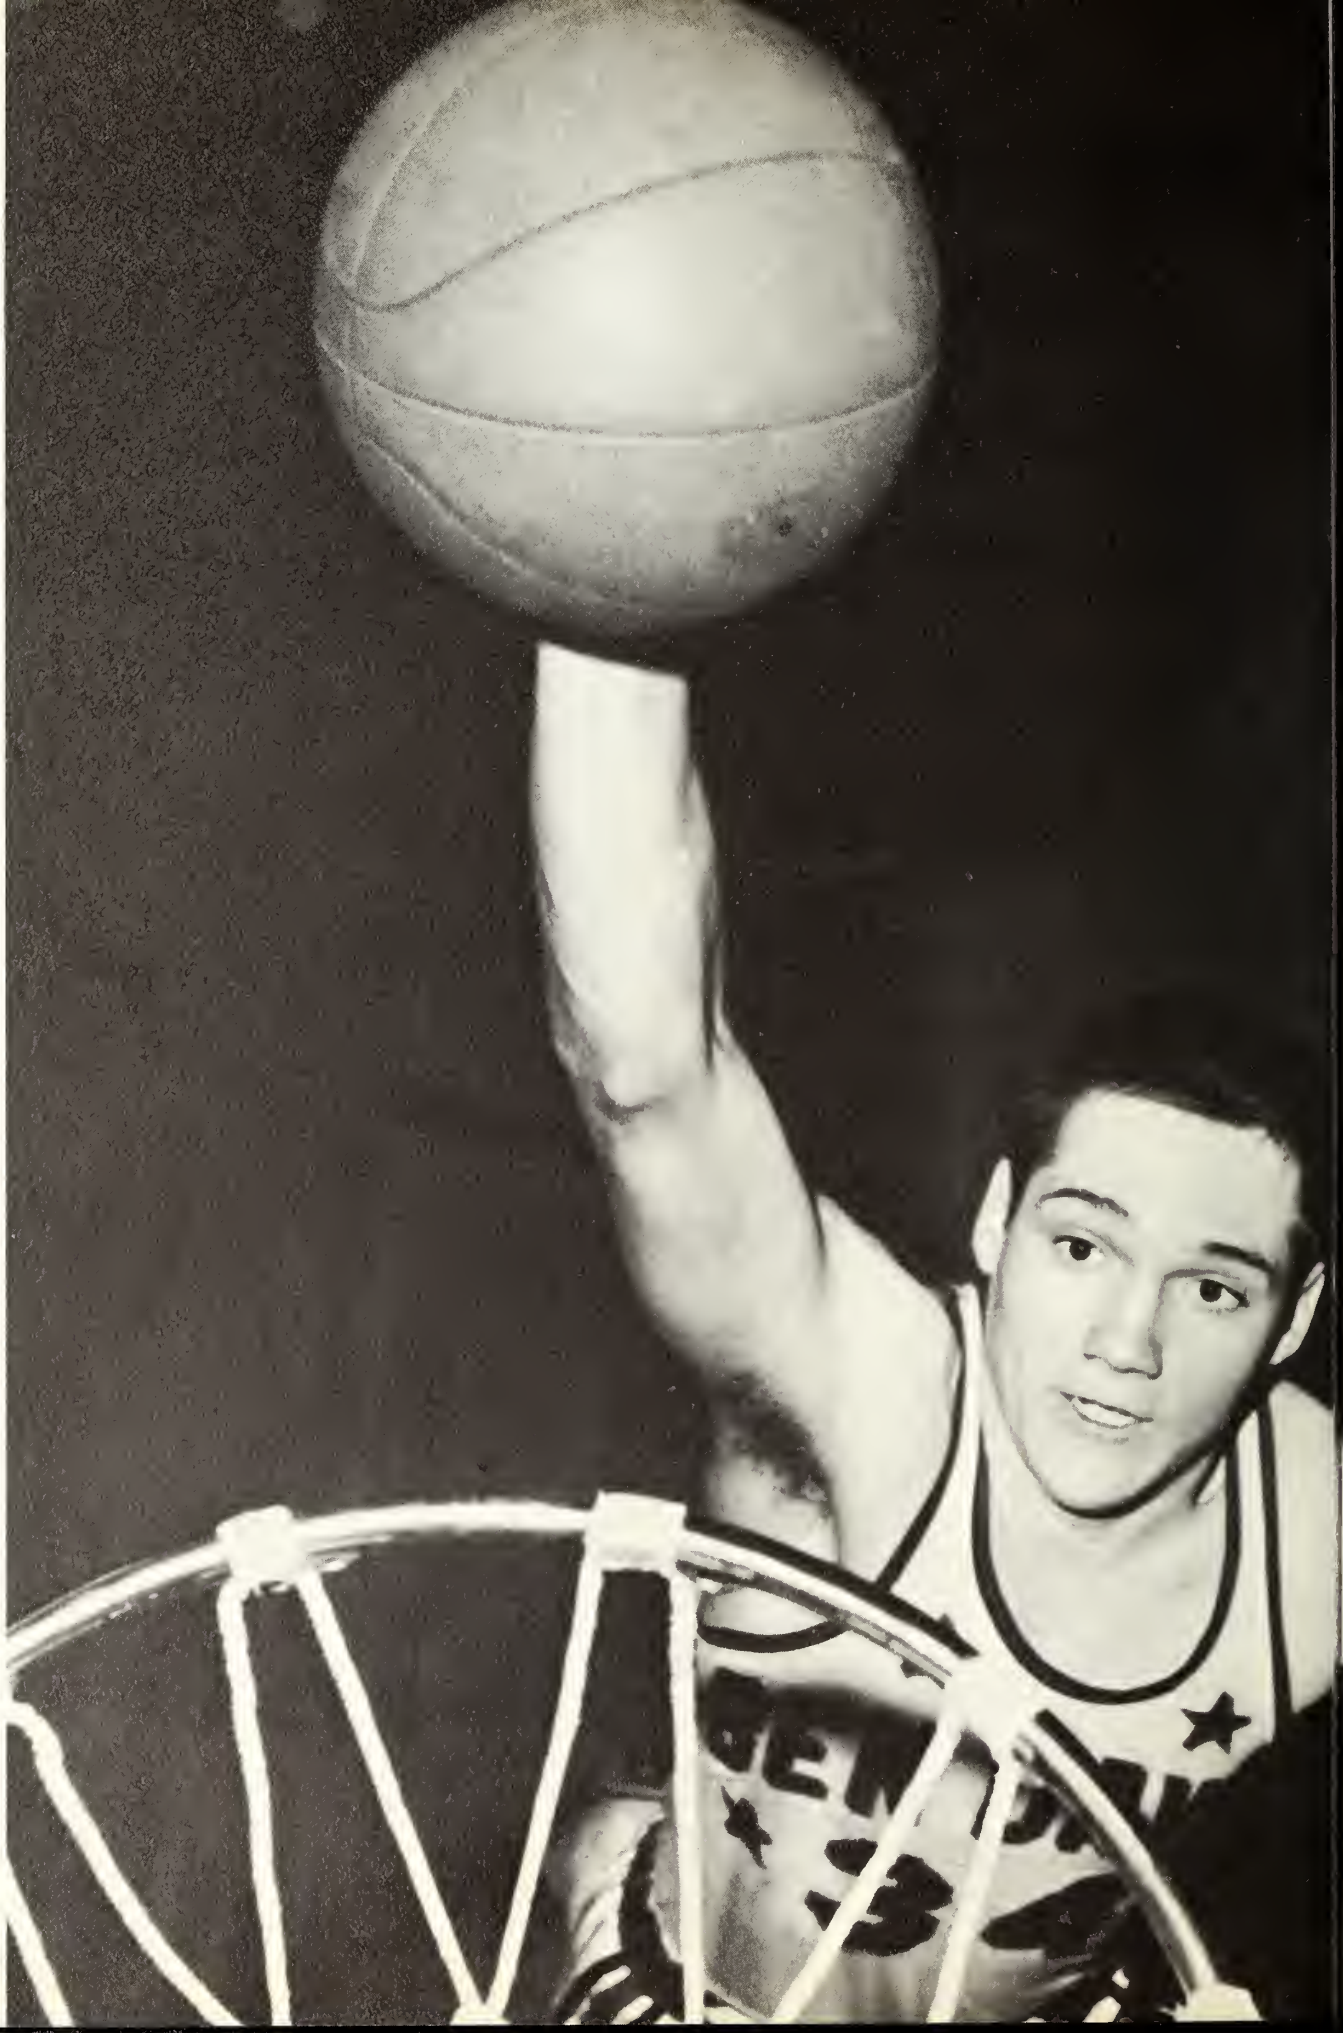
The Queen presented a trophy to the winning float, and second and third places were announced. The Art Club took top honors, Science Club, and Booster Club—Sideliners won second and third places respectively.

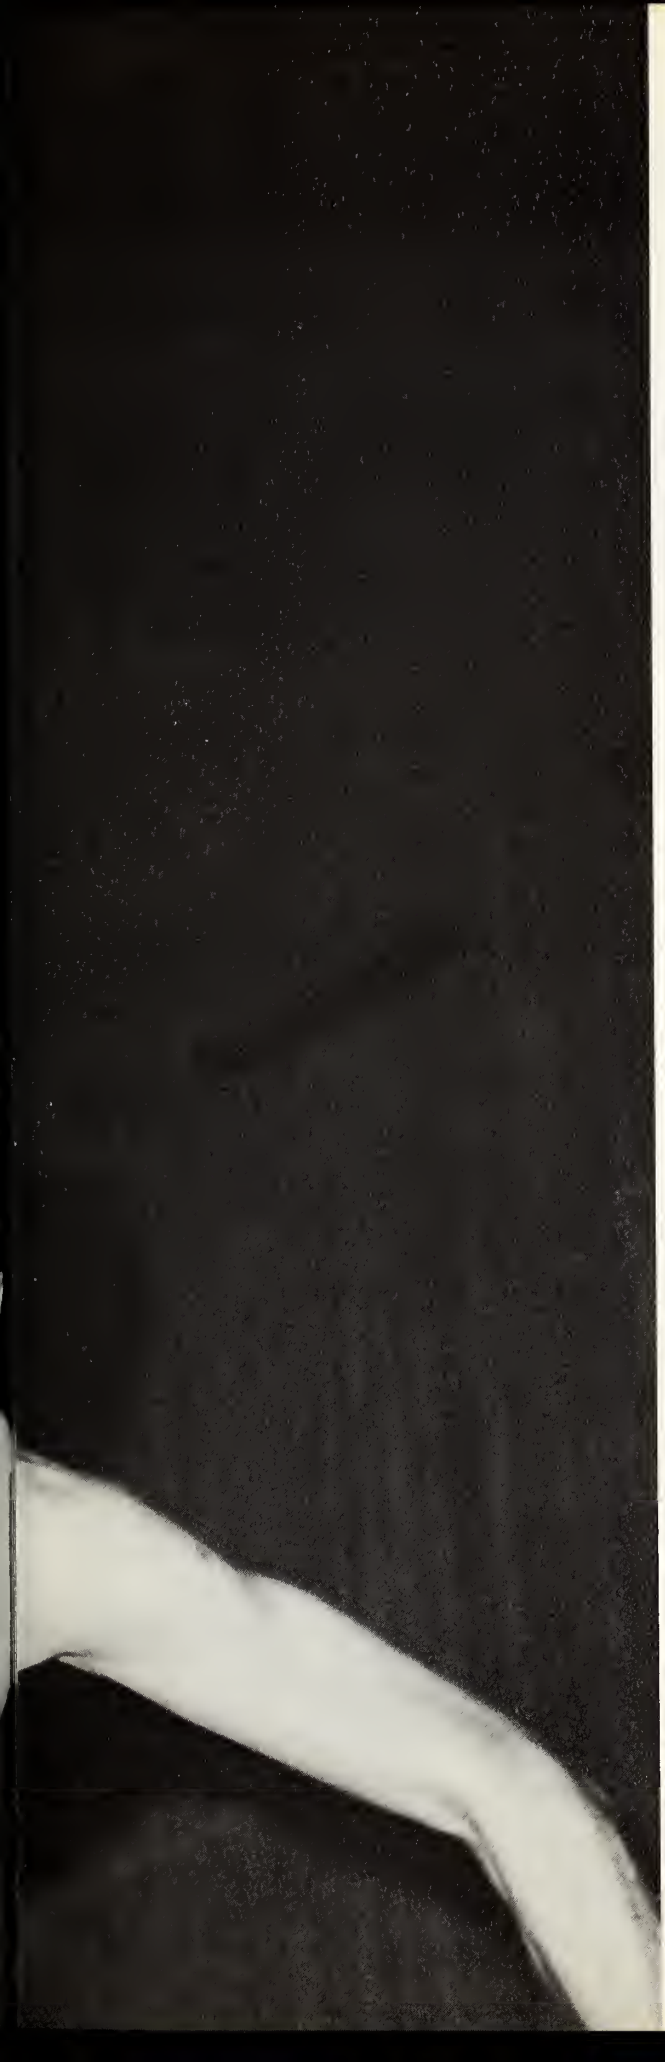
The Giants and Warriors then battled through the second half. The final score was Ben Davis 49—Brebeuf 13.

The Homecoming dance drew the evening to a close, as the Queen and her attendants held court in the cafeteria.



Art Club members worked long hours on the papier-mache Giant they built for their float, which won first place.





SPORTS

Jumping, cheering, and screaming, loyal Ben Davis fans cheered their teams on to victories. Pupils had many chances to express their school spirit as the athletic teams finished the year with the best records in several seasons. The teams were not the only ones to bring honor to Ben Davis—individual athletes showed their worth as they copped top honors. Also bringing recognition was the student body, as Ben Davis became known throughout the state for school spirit and sportsmanship. The football field, basketball floor, cinder track, wrestling mats, golf links, baseball diamonds, and tennis courts were another setting for the "WEST SIDE STORY."

McClain instills spirit--Giants have

Spirit and determination were the outstanding factors governing the Ben Davis Giant's finest season in several years.

Coach Bill McClain and his assistant, Mr. Bob Derival, instilled the importance of team spirit, desire, and confidence in the minds of each team member. This determination and spirit forged the team into a unit as they set their goals: never to quit striving, and to improve as a football team. As their 6-3-1 record indicates, they accomplished both.

As gridmen, learning to think of their actions on the field with regard to the success of the team, individual performances became outstanding. Junior halfback Tom Lothridge, leading scorer in the county, was named to the All-County team. Blocking for Tom were All-County tackle Jerry Chitwood and All-County second team guard Jim Lineback.

Throughout the season the fans, as well as the team, helped keep the tradition of school spirit intact.

This year's reserve football team, coached by Mr. Robert Britt and Mr. Jerry Goeglein, had a fine season. All through the year the reserve team had high spirits though playing a very tough schedule. During the season the reserve team obtained impressive victories over city rivals Shortridge and Washington. They also had decisive wins over County foes Southport and Decatur Central. When the 1964 season ended, the reserve team had compiled a record of 4 wins and 5 losses.

The freshman team, coached by Mr. James Yoder, played as rough a schedule as the reserves. During the season they suffered close defeats by Decatur Central and Washington. The freshman squad won victories over Shortridge and Woodview. As the season came to a close, the frosh record was 3 wins and 5 losses.

Both the reserve team and the freshman squad displayed high spirits throughout the season.

Although not expecting to field a contender for the state title this year, the cross country team finished eighth in the state. In gaining this position, the team also placed second in the sectional and the regional.

Jim Johnson, senior, was the 1964 sectional champion with a record breaking time of 9:59.7. He was only the third Ben Davis athlete to ever break 10:00.

The reserve team, headed by Mr. Marvin Meranda, had a very fine 5 and 1 record, while also finishing fourth in the Southport Invitational.

As the "harriers" record indicates, a considerable amount of time and effort went into making a winning season.

Champions, Fine 'Coach of Year'

The Jolly Purple Giants from Ben Davis registered one of their finest seasons ever during the 1964-65 season. The Giants compiled a 19-7 won-and-lost record and won both the Marion County Championship and the Indianapolis Sectional Championship.

The senior-studded squad, directed by Marion County "Coach of the Year," Evan Fine, displayed the spirit and teamwork that only a great team possesses. This team balance and team attitude was evident throughout the hardwood campaign.

Highlights of the season were when the victory-seeking Giants met and vanquished Lebanon, 64-59, and Washington, 80-78, each of which was second ranked in the state before contending with the Giants. As a result of these victories, the Giants were given recognition as one of the state's best teams. Finally, when the Giants captured the Marion County Championship and the Indianapolis Sectional, everyone knew there was a good basketball team on the West Side.

Hard work and determination earned the BDHS wrestling squad a successful season.

Coach Joe Preda's varsity matmen posted a 7-4 season, winning impressive victories over Tech and Franklin Central. In addition to their regular season wins, the Giant grapplers received two trophies by capturing the quadrangular Ben Davis Invitational and the Sectional Championship. Senior Steve Covert won the Sectional in the 154 lb. weight division but broke his arm in the Regionals. Junior Dave Wildman gained the 133 lb. class title.

Showing promising potential, the reserve wrestling squad finished the season undefeated. Coached by Mr. George McCool, the reserves defeated two varsity wrestling teams in registering their 11-0 record. Don Noble and Larry Burnett, although normally on the reserve squad, entered varsity competition several times during the season. Neither suffered a defeat.

The frosh grapplers gained valuable experience. Although the team, coached by Mr. Jack Jester, recorded an 0-6 slate, it showed desire and determination.

Track team has perfect 12-0 mark

Four field event records, two running event records and three relay records were shattered during the 1964-65 track season. High-jumping their way into the record book were Charlie Russell, jumping 6'0" indoors and Ron Porter, jumping 6'½" outdoors. Tom Lothridge broke the broad-jump record with a leap of 21'6½" and Steve Hackleman heaved the shot to a new distance of 55'0" outdoors and 53'7" indoors. Pole-vaulting himself to new heights is Gary Lowry with a vault of 12'4½".

Another record-holder is 440-dash man Bob Evans, sprinting to the tape in 51.6. Distance runner Bob Shipp established his mark with a 4:33.1 mile run.

Through teamwork and long practice, several relay marks were eclipsed by the half-mile relay team, the mile relay team, and the two-mile relay team.

The sum of these individual records plus the coaching techniques of Coach Wendy Hine and Coach Marvin Meranda equals a perfect 12-0 mark.

blow--spirit, sportsmanship remain

As the spring baseball season started, Coach Kenny Cox set out to better his previous year's record of 6 wins and 6 losses.

The Giant niner's bid for an undefeated season was ended in their first two games of the year by being defeated by Southport, 7-4, and Cathedral, 5-2. With more enthusiasm the Giants showed their power with a 8-3 thumping of Shortridge, only to lose a close contest to Warren Central 5-4. The Giants lost to North Central by a score of 9-2 and outslugged Crispus Attucks 14-13, and lost a slugfest to Lebanon 13-12. Tech and Howe clipped the baseball team by identical 3-1 scores, and Anderson stopped them 13-7.

Showing their ability to come back, the Giants defeated Decatur Central twice, 3-1, and 19-3. In their final three games the Giants bowed to Southport 16-6, lost to Manual 10-6 and defeated Washington 4-3.

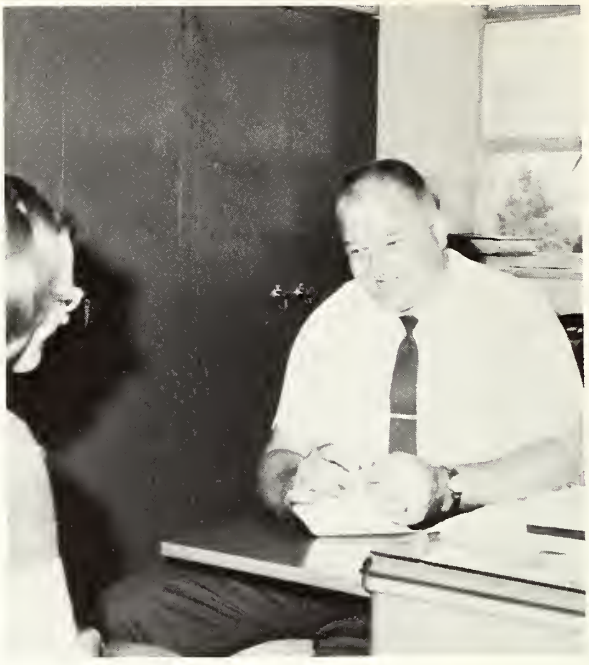
ALBUM

No story would be complete without the people who make up the cast—and the story of Ben Davis is no exception.
Coming from all races, religions, and environments, the over 2000 pupils and over 100 teachers and administrators worked, learned, and played together in harmony.
Freshmen found high school an interesting place and different from grade or junior high school. New freedoms and responsibilties confronted them. Sophomores and juniors, already acquainted with Ben Davis, participated more in affairs.
For the seniors, the last year of high school was mixed happiness and sadness. As they looked to their futures, they also remembered the classes and activities they had enjoyed at Ben Davis.
Altogether, these pupils and administrators make up the cast of the "WEST SIDE STORY."

Mr. Rabert Seeman, head guidance caunselar, discusses a pupil's pragram ta decide what caurses she shauld take.



Mr. Haward Williams, vice-principal, checks additians ta the daily annauncements and schedules activities.

Administration,

Mr. David Adams, principal, presents the Future Teachers af America charter ta Beth Sheppard, FTA president and perfarms one of his varied duties at BDHS.

The faculty and administration of Ben Davis devoted their time to guiding and teaching pupils.

Several new teachers were added to the faculty, and the teaching staff was supplemented throughout the year by substitute teachers and student teachers from the colleges and universities.

Teachers both taught and continued to further their education, as they worked on master's or doctor's degrees.

In their positions, teachers and administrators served as directors for the Ben Davis "WEST SIDE STORY."

Underclassmen look to new school

The underclassmen years were eventful and exciting ones. Freshmen had their first experiences as high school students and attended football and basketball games. They joined clubs and sponsored their Freshmen Dance.

Most sophomores were secure in their knowledge of BDHS, but those coming from Fulton had to learn their way around. However, everyone was soon a part of the activities. The highlights of the sophomores' year were the class dance and ordering their class rings.

Juniors received their rings early in the school year. Selling popcorn and coke at home basketball games to raise money, they sponsored the Junior-Senior Prom.

Electing class officers, cheerleaders, and Student Council members and officers, underclassmen took an active part in running their activities.

Frosh, Sophomores, and Juniors looked forward to the day when they would be Seniors and to the new experiences and facilities that awaited them in their new school.

Underclassmen gained experience with vating machines as they vated far their class afficers and Student Cauncil.

Underclassmen gym students will never farget the weekly rautine af square dancing an Fridays.

One of the largest purchasing forces in the United States today are the teenagers. Controlling a large portion of the nation's wealth, high school students exert a great deal of influence on the market. Budgeting incomes, whether meager or plentiful, is a problem that baffles the average teenager. Whether to spend the money on car repairs or equipment, food, cosmetics, or clothing often requires a lot of consideration. To the average BDHS student, money played an essential part in his "WEST SIDE STORY."
